A FREE AND FULL SALVATION

BY COMMANDANT L. BOWERING (R)

"FULL Salvation" is a familiar term in Salvation Army phraseology. Two verses in the first chapter of the first epistle of St. John stand out prominently among the many others describing this experience: "If we say we have no sin we deceive ourselves and the truth is not in us." "If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness."

These two verses, to me, appear to in us." This part refers to the state of a person in which he or she was born. It is a generally accepted fact that every person, since the fall of our first parents Adam and Eve, is born in sin. Various verses of Scripture all through the Word of God point out clearly that this is so. The psalmist David states in Psalm 51:5, "Behold, I was shapen in iniquity, and in sin did my mother conceive me."

"If we confess our sins He is not man was ever more sorely tempted than He was. Most churches observe the season of His temptations in the wilderness, "yet He was without sin."

But the question arises, what really is sin? In the third chapter of this epistle and the fourth verse we read "Sin is the transgression of the law." Then we may inquire of what does the law consist? The law consists of the ten commandments, as delivered by God to Moses on Mount Sinai,

Three Things You Should Know...

1. You need to be saved.

Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God—John 3:3.

For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God—Romans 3:23.

There is not a just man upon earth, that doeth good, and sinneth not.—Ecclesiastes 7:20.

We are all as an unclean thing, and all our righteousnesses are as filthy rags. — Isaiah 64:6.

The heart is deceitful above all things, and desperately wicked; who can know it?—Jeremiah 17:9.

All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way.—Isaiah 53:6.

2. You cannot save yourself.

Not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to His mercy He saved us.—Titus 3:5.

By the works of the law shall no flesh be justified. — Galatians 2:16.

For whosoever shall keep the whole law, and yet offend in one point, he is guilty of all. — James 2:10.

There is a way which seemeth right unto a man, but the end thereof are the ways of death. — Proverbs 14:12.

Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, and the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by Me.—John 14:6.

3. God has provided for your Salvation.

Who (Jesus) His own self bare our sins in His own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness.—I Peter 2:24. For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that He might bring us to God.—I Peter 3:18.

Him (Jesus) who knew no sin He (God) made to be sin on our behalf; that we might become the righteousness of God in Him. — 2 Corinthians 5:21. (R.V.)

For God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life.—John 3:16.

express three distinct spiritual conditions of the soul.

"If we say we have no sin we deceive ourselves and the truth is not

NOT YOUR OWN

THE man that says that there is any one thing in all this world that is his own, in that exclusive sense that he is permitted to do what he likes with it, has a perverted and vicious philosophy of life. This is God's world and in it opportunity always and everywhere means obligation. God is over us and men are beside us, and there is nothing that we have or are but is to be viewed in the light of those two mighty facts.

The great Apostle puts the matter most positively when he says that even our bodies are not our own. Had he not said it so plainly, we might have thought that surely we had some absolute proprietary rights there. "Ye are not your own," is the law of the Son of God, who Himself looked out through human eyes.—Christian Guardian.

faithful and just to forgive us our sins." Millions in the world can testify to the truth of this statement. In various conditions, and under different circumstances, people of all ages, young and old, have unburdened their load of guilt and, in repentance and sorrow of heart have confessed their sins to God. In accepting His promise by faith they have claimed complete forgiveness for their past transgressions, and rejoice in the fact that their sins are forgiven.

But St. John adds to the above words: "Cleanse us from all unrighteousness." The word cleanse means to make clean or purify. If we turn to the fifth chapter of this same epistle and the seventeenth verse we will find the words "all unrighteousness is sin," so we arrive at the conclusion that the promise is that He will cleanse us from all sin, if we meet with His demands. Not only drunkenness, swearing, lying, stealing and impurity, but every evil tendency. This does not mean freedom from temptation, but power over temptation. Christ Himself was without sin, but the account of which is found in the twentieth chapter of Exodus.

A certain lawyer asked Jesus which was the greatest commandment, and Jesus replied, "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul and with all thy mind. This is the first and greatest commandment. And the second is like unto it, 'Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. On these two hang all the law and the prophets.'"

This gives us to understand that these two commandments cover the whole ten. The person who has full salvation loves God with all his heart, with all his soul and with all his mind, and his neighbor as himself.

In the year 1904 at the International Congress (which I think was the last that the Founder conducted) I listened to Commissioner S. Brengle, while standing on the platform beside the Founder, give his testimony as to how he sought and found the blessing of Full Salvation. When he finished the Founder said, "All I have to say to that is, 'Go thou and do likewise.'"

"And We Beheld His Glory"

"In the beginning was the Word. . . . And the Word was made flesh and dwelt among us, and we beheld His glory . . . full of grace and truth . . . and of His fulness have all we received."—John 1:1; 14.

THAT is a glorious testimony to a personal experience of the Christ, taken from the opening chapter of the Gospel according to St. John, read to us earlier in this service. It brings to mind the equally remarkable declaration from the opening of the first Epistle general of John. . . . "That which was from the beginning, which we have heard, which we have seen with our eyes, which we have looked upon and our hands have handled of the Word of life; (For the life was manifested, and we have seen it and bear witness . . .) That which we have seen and heard declare we unto you, that ye also may have fellowship with us; and truly our fellowship is with the Father, and with His Son, Jesus Christ."

The Fourth Gospel is generally admitted to be one of the greatest religious documents of the world. It is a masterpiece of mystical contemplation in which faith and history find their unity and reconciliation. It is wonderful writing in which simple faith links with personal experience, and both pay tribute to the reality of individual redemption through Christ the Lord. And, thanks be to God, a countless host today makes equal claim to this personal experience of Christ as a living reality, a Saviour and Friend.

Three Thoughts

There are three thoughts expressed here to which I would call your attention this evening. The first is this, "THE WORD WAS MADE FLESH AND DWELT AMONG US." It has been said that in the year 1854, during the war with Russia, England was greatly stirred over the sufferings of her neglected soldiers in the Crimea. A wave of indignation and pity swept over the country as the horrible facts came to light. But all the stirring of thought about them meant nothing to the men far away, perishing of festering wounds untended. Only when it was made flesh in Florence Nightingale and her helpers did the kindly purpose of England really mean something to the neglected men. It was only when the passionate tenderness of the heart of God found expression in the incarnate Christ, when the Eternal Word was made flesh, that earth-bound, sin-stricken souls of men knew that Redemption had become not only a possibility but a glorious reality.

They Came by Simple Faith

The mysteries of the Incarnation and of the Trinity have exercised the minds of wise men and philosophers ever since the coming of our Lord. But both Matthew and Luke report Christ as having said, "O Father, Lord of heaven and earth, thou hast hid these things from the wise and prudent, and hast revealed them unto babes . . . for so it seemed good in Thy sight." And to many an unlearned man and woman has come by simple faith a working concept of these mighty truths. Such find it easy to think of God the Father as the Eternal Being, in Whom dwells all the power of the Godhead — all-powerful, all-knowing, all-seeing, everywhere present, eternal, incomprehensible. Then to such as have with the simplicity of children accepted the Gospel of Christ, it is not difficult to realize that all that same power of the Godhead is seen in one perfect human life, Christ the Son of God. They realize without constraint that God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto Himself; that Christ is indeed God manifest in the flesh. From this it is an easy progression to the realization that the Holy Spirit is all that same power, now working in God's creation, and moving, as the Spirit of Christ, in the hearts of humble men and women who believe on His Name.

The WORD, the very expression of the heart of God, was made flesh and dwelt amongst men on the earth. A word, you know, is that by which we express, or make known, the thoughts, the emotions of our inmost soul. I may be moved by love, or hate and yet hide my emotion beneath a cloak of indifference; I may rejoice with inward joy, or suffer mental anguish, and those around be unconscious of my state. But with a word I can reveal to them that which stirs my heart.

It was in Christ, here called the eternal Word, that the thoughts and emotions of the heart of God were "spoken," or made plain to the sons of men. He was the audible and visible expression of all the love and righteousness, all the holiness of God and His yearning for men.

The Beauty of the Lord

"And" says John, "We beheld His glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the Father, full of grace and truth." That is our second thought. It is obvious that John is not here speaking of the heavenly glory which shall be revealed when (as Christ Himself foretold) "All the tribes of the earth shall mourn and they shall see the Son of man coming in the clouds of heaven with power and great glory." Nor is it the glory referred to in the song of the heavenly host, "Worthy is the Lamb that was slain to receive power, and riches, and wisdom, and strength, and honor, and glory, and blessing."

No, I think the glory that was revealed to John and his fellow disciples, the glory that is made plain to us in the written word of the Gospels, is that same glory to which Paul referred in his Epistle to the Corinthians—"But we all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image, from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord." I think the Psalmist of a much earlier day had a vision of this same glory when he uttered the beautiful prayer, with which the ninetyeth Psalm concludes — "And let the beauty of the Lord our God be upon us; and establish thou the work of our hands upon us; yea, the work of our hands, establish thou it." The beauty of the Lord, and the glory of the Lord are in these cases synonymous, for, as John says, "We beheld His glory, full of grace and truth."

It would be easy to say that the glory of the Lord, the beauty of Christ, lay in His matchless purity; in His unfailing tenderness; in His unwavering patience; in His boundless love. But tonight I would like to go beyond these outward evidences of His Glory, — to dig more deeply as it were—and seek the inward cause of these open manifestations of beauty.

As a beginning, I would suggest that the glory of Christ lay in His unfailing recognition of the transcendence of that which is spiritual. To Him always, the material world was wholly secondary to the realm of the spiritual, the Kingdom of God. In His coming to earth, He came not with material strength and power; He came as a babe, a babe born of the Holy Spirit. Nothing could be more illustrative of physical and material impotence than a human babe, so helpless that it must surely die unless cared for by others; yet what has greater influence in a home than the coming of the first tender infant. His com-

THE HEART'S LONGING SATISFIED

I WOULD like to say to the glory of God that Jesus saves, keeps and satisfies! I was born in Russia, of non-Christian parents. My mother told me I must not steal, lie or do bad things, or I could not go to heaven.

I remember clearly that between the years of seven and eight I was under deep conviction. I did not know about God's love for sinners and had never been to Sunday-school. One day I was sitting alone and crying my heart out, when a woman entered the room (a friend of my mother). She asked why I was crying. I told her it was because of my sins. I wished I had died when an infant, then I would be sure of heaven.

Glorious Salvation Tidings

The visitor told me I should say my prayers and be good, and all would be well. But as the years went by, my conviction of sin deepened, and so did my longing for God. When I was nearly nineteen years of age I heard the glorious Gospel that Jesus came to save sinners, even such as I. And so—

*I came to Jesus and I drank of that Life-giving Stream,
My thirst was quenched, my soul revived, and now I live in Him.*

I would like to tell of my first contact with the Salvation Army and how much it has meant to me. I enjoyed my salvation, but did not fully realize how much joy there is in a life of service for Jesus.

Until about eight years ago I was seriously sick, lonesome and friendless in one of the hospitals in British Columbia where a Salvation Army officer called once a week with War Crys. He and his wife, Captain and Mrs. Arthur Cartmell (now in charge of Brandon Citadel, Man.) took an interest in me, although I did not require any financial aid. Their kindness and friendship meant more to me than I can express. When the time of my discharge from the hospital came I was very weak and therefore appreciated God's strong arm to support me, and then and there in my heart I said "Lord, if I ever get well, I will no longer live a selfish life."

After I got stronger, I moved to a different town, but the Lord reminded me of my promise, and I could not think of any place I could serve the Lord better than in the Salvation Army. I therefore asked to be enrolled as a soldier. I can truly say God has blessed my life and—"Now, Hallelujah! the rest of my days shall gladly be spent in promoting His praise."

Youth's Battle-Sign

RISE up, O Youth! for mighty winds are stirring,
Men's hearts grow faint through all the earth today;
Evil, with evil everywhere conferring,
Summons its legions forth in dread array.
Deep in our hearts another Voice is calling,
Urgent, insistent, sounds the Voice Divine.
Out in the darkness men are thickly falling,
Go with the Cross; it is thy battle-sign.

Forward, O Youth! But first, in true submission,
Bring all thou hast and art to Christ thy Lord.
Take from His hand His glorious commission,
Rise then, and in His Name unsheath the sword.
Strong in His might go forth as He shall guide thee,
Pledged in advance to fight and not to yield.
Lift up thy heart, for comrades march beside thee.
Jesus, thy Lord, is with thee—take the field.

Young People's Councils In The Territory

Conducted by the Territorial Young People's Secretary,
Lt.-Colonel T. Mundy

WITH a crowd overflowing to the front door of the Ottawa 1 Citadel, the Young People's Council week-end meetings commenced on Saturday evening under the leadership of Territorial Young People's Secretary and Mrs. Lt.-Colonel T. Mundy, assisted by the Divisional Commander, Lt.-Colonel M. Junker. Representative groups of young people from Brockville, Smith's Falls and the three Ottawa Corps presented items of inspiration and interest. A united youth band under the direction of Bandsman J. Morris provided musical selections.

On Sunday morning the corps officers and delegates from twelve corps were welcomed by the Divisional Commander. During the session Betty Kerr of Arnprior, Candidates B. Williams and C. Ramsay of Kemptville and Ottawa 3 respectively participated by leading in the Scripture reading, a personal testimony and a Gospel message. A duet, "O Man of Galilee" was sung by 2nd. Lieut. M. Dray and Pro-Lieut. L. Crocker prior to the Scriptural message given by Lt.-Colonel Mundy.

A happy and expectant spirit during a Bible Quiz in which teams from Pembroke, Perth and Brockville participated during the afternoon session. By a close margin the Pembroke team won the honors. Candidate D. Stanway of Brockville was the winner in the impromptu speech contest.

Candidate L. Dorman of Brockville testified and Bandsman J. Morris, Ottawa, led in the Scripture reading. Mrs. Mundy brought a helpful and challenging message. During an appeal for candidates given by Lt.-Colonel Mundy, several young people responded. The Divisional Commander then offered a dedicatory prayer.

In the evening session Corps Cadet M. Robertson, of Renfrew, led the responsive Scripture reading and Corps Cadet H. Moore of Pembroke testified. A brief message was given by Corps Cadet K. Dodd of Ottawa 2. Before the salvation message given by Lt.-Colonel Mundy, Corps Cadet E. Simpson sang. A number of young people responded to the challenge extended by the Colonel in the prayer-meeting which followed.

A large audience attended the meeting held on Saturday evening at Saint John, N.B., Citadel prior to the New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island Young People's Councils under the leadership of the Divisional Commander and Mrs. Brigadier C. Knaap. A demonstration entitled "From the Cross to the Crown" was given and five seekers knelt at the Mercy-Seat. The Territorial Young People's Secretary and Mrs. Lt.-Colonel T. Mundy were welcomed.

Delegates from Moncton, New-castle, Saint John, St. Stephen, Sussex and Woodstock attended the Sunday morning session. Captain C. Hefferman led the responsive read-

Mrs. Major Russell taught the children a chorus in Hindustani, and Donna Haxton sang a song, after which supper was served to sixty-five young people.

Captain Smith led the evening meeting, Corps Cadets F. Heintzman and J. Rickman played a cornet duet. The Steelton Singing Company sang songs. The Salvation story was illustrated by sketches in pastel given by a recent convert.

Vancouver Chief Of Police

Pays Tribute to the Army's Work

OUTSTANDING success has attended the Saturday Night Series of Musical Festivals presented by the Vancouver Temple Band (Bandmaster Clifton Gillingham) assisted by friends. The large appreciative audiences have given evidence of their popularity.

The recent festival given under the auspices of the Receiving Home (Major and Mrs. G. Wagner) was presided over by Chief of Police Walter Mulligan.

In response to an introduction given by Mrs. Major N. Buckley, the Chief of Police expressed gratitude for the beneficial work done by Major and Mrs. Wagner in the police-court and prisons. Said the Chief, "They are filling a vital need in our community life. I believe that the human qualities of sympathy and understanding can do more towards helping an unfortunate person than financial aid."

Continuing his remarks of appreciation of the Army's work, the Chief of Police declared: "In police-court it is ever encouraging to hear the Salvation Army officer say: 'We'll do all we can to help,' for we know that to be true."

Included in the well-arranged program were a cornet solo, "Hosanna," by Bandsman S. Marsh, and a cornet duet by Bandsman R. Middleton and his son. The band gave masterful interpretations of "Gems from Gounod," Swedish Festival March and "Sound Out the Proclamation."

Receiving Home Benefited

A collection of $145 was taken for the work of the Girls' Receiving Home.

Inspector Nancy Hewitt, in charge of the Women's Police Department, expressed thanks to the visitors, the chairman, and all who had taken part during this happy and profitable evening's proceedings.—H.B.

A GROUP of converts, along with Captain W. Leslie, of Toronto Men's Hostel, made their way to the union station to welcome from Scotland a convert's wife and three lovely children.

ARMY OF TOMORROW: During a recent visit paid by the Chief Secretary and Mrs. Colonel R. Harewood to Lansing (Ont.) Corps, an enrolment of Junior Soldiers took place. The Colonel, standing with the Divisional Commander and Mrs. Lt.-Colonel W. Carruthers, is shown admiring the framed Pledge Cards of the happy group. The Corps Officers, 1st. Lieut. and Mrs. J. Ivany, are either side of Mrs. Harewood (extreme right).

THRIVING SUBURBAN CORPS

Visited by the Chief Secretary and Mrs. Colonel R. Harewood

SALVATIONISTS in Lansing, Ont., are rejoicing over recent blessings during a recent nine-day campaign. The activities commenced with a packed hall on Easter Saturday night for an appropriate film. The corps officers, 1st. Lieut. and Mrs. J. Ivany, and a cornet trio attended a sunrise service on Easter Sunday Morning at 5.30, administering blessing in music and the Scriptures. This was followed by an early morning march.

The Army citadel was again packed for meetings morning and evening, with an excellent turnout for a half-night of prayer, which lasted until after midnight.

In succeeding nights, the following comrades led on: Brother R.

Langford, Captain E. Parr, Sr.-Captain W. Shaver, Captain J. Carter, a vocal trio from Territorial Headquarters, and Bandsman R. Merritt.

The campaign was brought to a glorious climax by the Chief Secretary and Mrs. Colonel R. Harewood, on Sunday. The visitors were assisted by the Divisional Commander and Mrs. Lt.-Colonel W. Carruthers.

New song-books were dedicated in the morning; twelve junior soldiers were enrolled in the afternoon, and five senior soldiers at night. The band and songster brigade gave faithful service throughout the day.

Things are on the move in Lansing, and the Lord is rewarding the faith and prayers of the comrades.

Instrument Fund Aided

IN aid of an instrument fund for Riverdale Citadel Young People's Band, Toronto, (Major and Mrs. J. Patterson) the Dovercourt Songster Brigade recently gave a program of music and song. A well-filled hall brought inspiration to the visitors, and each item was rendered with enthusiasm and the desire to bless the hearers. Adding interest to the occasion, the customary chairman was dispensed with, the various numbers being announced by members of the brigade, who also gave the composer's name and a short description of the item.

Among the selections sung were "Majesty, Praise and Power," "Hark 'tis the Watchman's Cry," "Now Thank we all our God," "The Triumphant Life," concluding with "The Hallelujah Chorus."

GENEROUS GIFT: Major Ida Ellis accepts a cheque for a thousand dollars from the Students Wives Club of Western University donated for the work of the Army's Home and Hospital, London, Ont. A SEA-GIRT LAND ANNIVERSARY

A "NEWFOUNDLAND SUNDAY" was held at Toronto Temple on April 1, when a definite "Seagirt Land" flavor pervaded the meetings of the day led by Captain A. Pitcher, a visitor from Windsor, Ont. The gatherings coincided with the anniversary of the amalgamation of Newfoundland with Canada, thus, as the Captain pertinently put it, wisely following the example set by the Salvation Army which observes no boundaries.

Throughout the day songs dear to Newfoundlanders were sung, and in the morning Colonel G. Peacock (R) spoke of experiences in Canada's Tenth Province. Captain Pitcher, introduced by the Temple Corps Officer, Major C. Watt, gave an inspiring message entitled "Men who have turned the world upside down," including the Army founder, William Booth.

The band (Captain K. Rawlins) and songster brigade (Leader S. De'Ath) contributed inspiring and appropriate selections.

Retired Bandmaster A. Boys, following a period in hospital, is now convalescent.

In a Salvation Army broadcast over Radio Station V.O.C.M., St. John's, the Newfoundland "Ambassadors" Session of Cadets recently introduced a series of radio presentations. The first of these featured the conversion of William Booth. The struggle in the soul of the young lad was clearly portrayed, as was his entire consecration to God in the Nottingham Methodist Chapel.

Visitors to the Training College have included the Divisional Young People's Secretary, Sr.-Major J. Wood, who gave a series of addresses on the young people's work. 1st. Lieut. E. Darby, a veteran of World War 2 gave the cadets some of his experiences. Another interesting event was the visit of Songster R. Spurrell, of the Temple Corps, who gave a vivid firsthand account of the International Youth Councils held in London. Her talk was illustrated by film-strip pictures and a display of souvenirs.

During the mid-session Spiritual Day conducted by the Training Principal and Mrs. Sr.-Major S. Gennery, the movings of God's Holy Spirit were mightily felt, and many of the cadets claimed the blessing of entire sanctification.

Visiting the Prisoners

Visitation of institutions has been continued, and at the penitentiary Cadets M. Duffett and R. Le Drew told of their conversion. During the course of the meeting several songs were sung by request of the prisoners.

African Wild Life

Viewed from the "Safety" of a Car

THE Sabi road that runs along the bank of the Sabi, then down to the Crocodile River and on into Portuguese African territory through "big game" country, is full of adventure and interest for the motorist with "eyes to see," writes a missionary officer. To leave the car is forbidden because of the danger, and travellers are warned to "beware of elephants." "If you meet elephants near the road travel carefully, and if they are on the road ahead of you wait until they have left the road before proceeding; but if you meet a mother and her calf put your car into reverse and get away." These are the instructions given to the traveller. Wise drivers obey them.

Long before dawn we had broken camp, after a drink of scalding-hot coffee and bread and fried boerevors (home-made beef sausage) for, if we were to follow our route, the journey would be long.

Looking for game in the dark is useless, so, just as daylight chased the bush shadows away we left our camp, on the look-out for lion and elephant. To travel in "big game" country in the early morning is eerie. Any turn of the bush track may bring you into touch with big animals of the wilds.

An Almost Human Family

"Look, oh, look!" whispered Cath; and at her call we looked to see in the dried river bed the biggest troop of baboons we had ever seen—dozens of mothers with tiny babies, some clinging to their mothers, others wrestling with each other like boys. The older, more mature males were "just sitting" enjoying the early morning sunshine, and the whole troop took not the slightest notice of us as we brought our little car to a standstill so that we could observe them better. On the outskirts of the troop were real giant baboons on guard, and woe betide any one who tried to interfere.

Several miles farther on we saw our lions. A gigantic lioness rose to her feet about twenty-five paces off the track and stood looking at us. For this moment we had waited, and hastily we backed the car to get a better view. Then we saw her companion, as big as herself, stretched out enjoying the morning sunshine and taking no notice of us. These were magnificent specimens, sleepy, contented; but we thought of the ear-splitting roar we had heard the night before when lions had made

INDIA'S PREMIER

IN connection with the Prime Ministers' Conference recently held in London, Mr. Nehru, India's Premier, met a group of Indian students at India House.

Among those invited was a young Salvationist, who took part in the International Salvationist Youth Congress last summer. She considered the occasion worthy of her appearance in full uniform. Moving among his guests the Premier recognized the Army uniform, expressed his pleasure at meeting a Salvationist among his guests, saying "I take my hat off to The Salvation Army."

their kill. After twenty minutes of watching them we decided to travel on.

Now it was an elephant we would like to see, but remembering warnings we were not certain if we really wanted to meet an elephant on

And ere he blew three notes . . .
There was a rustling that seemed like a bustling
Of merry crowds justling at pitching and hustling
Small feet were pattering, wooden shoes clattering,
Little hands clapping and little tongues chattering,
And, like fowls in a farmyard when barley is scattering,
Out came the children running.

BROWNING'S lines certainly seem very apt, but it is not a fancy-dressed piper who sounds the notes but a tall Salvation Army officer, Major Daniel Goetschmann, and his "pipe" is the horn of his lorry, says an article in a daily paper, written by a woman missionary officer.

Toot! Toot! Toot! It acts like magic. Turning down a dilapidated

Congress At Atlanta

PARTIES of Salvationists from all over the Southern Territory gathered at Atlanta, Ga., for sixtieth anniversary celebrations led by Commissioner N. Marshall, who had journeyed from Chicago to lead the Congress. A civic welcome was tendered the 1,200 delegates on the steps of the City Hall.

A missionary pageant, presented by the Ambassador Cadets, launched the proceedings.

The Southern War Cry gives photographs showing the huge processions that took place through the broad main streets of Atlanta. The Mexican and Texas contingents, particularly, caught the eye of the bystanders. At the close of the missionary pageant fifteen young folk answered the call to devote their lives to God's service.

"My job is to teach African nurses," writes Sr.-Captain Edith Jayter, of Northern Rhodesia, "and I find it very interesting. The first two ever to be trained in this country passed the government examination successfully, and we are very proud of them. They are remaining at the hospital, and even so, we are short staffed." The Captain asks for prayer that God will give her the added physical strength to cope with the tiring work.

road in Blanqueado district, Chile, South America, the lorry sounds its horn and . . . But this is no revengeful piper intent on luring the children from their homes. It is the thrice weekly distribution of free soup from the Salvation Army lorry. I had offered my assistance as general helper.

The children run to look and then disappear as we bump over the very uneven ruts. They reappear armed with pots—pots of all sizes; pots of original colors, though today the prevailing color is very definite greasy-black; frying pans, a glass water-jug; mugs of all shapes and sizes, pie-dishes.

The officers arrange the queues. Two jump on the back of the lorry to ladle out. I am to be one of the "passers-up." I have thoughtfully provided myself with a white pinafore to put over my coat. A trifle more thought might have led me to the better plan of taking a colored one.

The queues are ready. The lid is off the huge cauldron with its 250 litres of hot soup. There are thirty kilos of beans in it as well as other ingredients, so it both looks and smells good. Now the fun begins. I bend down to take the saucepan from the first child, hold it up to be filled, then hand it back to its owner, and seize the next pot. I am conscious of sooty grease, or perhaps it is greasy soot, on my hands, but I haven't time to investigate.

Here is a round-eyed baby, certainly not two years old, with her mug. I press her fat little hands as firmly as possible round it and send her away, knowing that the heat of the soup will soon make itself felt through the enamel, and wondering whatever she will do then. But I haven't time to look round and see, for the queue is long and anxious—anxious that there will be enough for everybody. I begin to get anxious too, and I whisper to the server, "Don't put so much in the big pots. It won't go round." Here is a frying-pan to be filled. How on earth will the boy balance his way home with it over the uneven ground? I can do no more than give it to him and get on with my job. If only I had eyes at the back of my head!

I pat a few of the children on the head and then wish I hadn't. Then I feel ashamed of that wish. One can always wash one's hands and a pat on the head means a lot to a neglected child. One little girl has a man's green jacket on, hanging down to her knees and with the sleeves twice too long. All the children are ragged and practically every one barefoot, although it is cold and a slight drizzle is falling. One small tot has a sleeveless frock and presents an old cup for her portion.

One or two grown-ups join the queue, very grateful, very polite. One man gravely offers an old Milo tin for filling.

Incredibly Poor Novels

How the children will manage to reach home without spilling the soup puzzles me. I wish I could follow some of them, see how carefully they step not to waste a drop, see them going into the place they call home. Just a few rough boards and bits of corrugated iron many of them. I'd like to follow them in, see them put the pot on the table, if there is any table; see the rest of the family gather round and then watch them eat. Would there be plates enough to go round? I'm pretty certain there wouldn't be spoons, but one can drink soup without the intervention of a spoon, fortunately. The hot soup, particularly as it is gratis, would be a bright spot in an otherwise dull day.

The queue has grown smaller but the contents of the cauldron have done likewise. It is tipped up, scraped; alas! a dozen or more children stand with empty pots and blank faces. No more! Better luck next time!

that densely thickened narrow road. However, we must go and we did see our elephant on the Sabi Road. Our car had almost passed him when I saw him towering above the thick bush. Still remembering the warning we drove past him before we stopped the car, although we kept the motor running, in case it was necessary to bolt.

As we gazed back at him we were amazed at the perfect specimen of a gigantic bull elephant, with splendid tusks, looking straight at us. We had time to take in all his fine points before he lifted his trunk, shook his mammoth ears and commenced to move toward us. This was a sure signal for us to move, and move quickly we did, but not before we had seen him step into full view on the road behind us. Our car seemed very, very small, the road very lonely and our friend the elephant very, very big, so we did not linger!

Before sunset we pulled into our camp, tired, dusty, but very satisfied. We had seen lions and an elephant on the Sabi Road.—C.W.W.

Myriads Of Tiny Fish

Great Lakes Full of Smelt

NO "official" record of the 1951 smelt run having started has yet been received by the Fish and Wildlife Division, Ontario Department of Lands and Forests, it was announced recently. But, fisheries specialists agree, it won't be long now. Hordes of the silvery little fish will soon be running in streams bordering on the Great Lakes.

The smelt spawn early in the Spring, running up the streams as soon as the ice has gone out and before it has left the lakes. One female of about nine inches will deposit 20,000 eggs, with the eggs being placed on the clean gravel bottom of streams and sometimes of lakes. The eggs hatch in from twenty to twenty-seven days.

At one year old, the average smelt is three to four inches in length; at two, six to eight inches; three, eight to nine; four, nine to ten; five, ten to twelve, and at six years of age measures between twelve and fourteen inches.

"Heard" Shoals Swim

The fish were first planted in Lake Michigan, according to early records, as a possible food for lake trout. They increased tremendously in number and then, some years ago, were stricken by a disease which almost wiped them out. They have been reported in large numbers in more recent times and have spread from northern Lake Huron into Lake Ontario and even some parts of the St. Lawrence River.

One of the most popular legends about their tremendous numbers came from Northern Michigan where, it is claimed, a farmer first discovered them in a creek so thickly populated that he could actually hear them swimming. In some Ontario streams, they can be dipped out by the bucketful, particularly late at night when the run is in full swing.

STINGLESS BEES

IN the countryside near Vancouver, William Feedham, an apiarist, saw a farmer casually kick over a full beehive. To Feedham's further astonishment, a group of calves tethered a few feet away paid no attention to the milling swarms of bees. "I realized right away," he says, "that the bees in Squamish Valley were vastly different from any I had ever seen before. Obviously they did not sting."

Recently Mr. Feedham, an official of Canada's Honey Producers' Association, announced his find: a honey-producing bee that refuses to sting. He has already raised five "stingless" queens in his own hives. Besides being rich producers, Squamish bees are prolific, healthy, and excellent hive managers.

Gentle Insects

A cross between two bee varieties (Carniolan and Italian), the Squamish bees were brought to the Squamish River Valley from Holland thirty-five years ago by a Belgian immigrant. Now there are some fifty colonies of about 60,000 bees each. To protect the strain, the British Columbia provincial government has barred the importation of other bees into Squamish Valley. Entomologists fear that because the Squamish is a hybrid, its reluctance to sting may not last. But Feedham believes that by long breeding it has now become a distinct new strain. He looks forward hopefully to a honey-producing bee so gentle in nature that anyone could raise a colony on the back porch.

The Use Of Cairns

LARGE heaps of stones, piled up in a conical fashion, cairns are still erected as landmarks, although in ancient times they were built more as monuments to the dead. Meetings of the tribes for the inauguration of a new chief, would take place as near the cairn of his predecessor as possible. Cairns did also mark certain land boundaries.

In Highland districts small cairns used to be erected to mark the place where distinguished persons were "rested" on the way to their last resting place.

Still Boys At Heart

A MODEL MOST BOYS WOULD LIKE TO OWN, a seven-foot long replica of a British warship, which contains a diesel engine and can do seven knots per hour. It is to try the Channel crossing, but this picture was taken in a London pond.

BOUND FOR MADRID, SPAIN is this bus, which the boys of Rushey Mead School, Leicester, England, are cleaning, preparatory to starting on the trip. Whether it is possessed of submarine qualities is not stated, but we assume part of the trip is by ship. The "ads" that plaster the bus help to pay for the expedition. The passengers are only pupils who have mastered Spanish the best! The words on the front (lower) read, "Notice! Right-hand drive!" Traffic takes the left-hand side of the road in England, right, on the Continent.

A LIVING FENCE

MULTIFLORA ROSE, the shrub that has been widely mooted as a stock-proof "living fence," wildlife food, and cover plant, especially in the United States, will not receive the blanket endorsement for us in Ontario at least — until the results of wide-scale experiments, now being made, are known.

Evidence as to the plant's worth in Ontario that has been gathered to date by Department research workers, is neither complete nor conclusive, they say, and it will be at least another three to five years before all the related facts are established.

Meanwhile, sportsmen and farmers in widely scattered areas from Cochrane and Timiskaming in the north to Markham and Woodbridge, near Toronto, have been aiding the Department, through trial plantings furnished them, in finding out just how valuable the shrub would be under the province's various climatic and soil conditions.

Working quietly, the Department has been conducting an investigation since 1948 into ways and means of improving the habitat of wildlife on farmlands in southern Ontario. Multiflora Rose was included in the project along with other types of native and exotic cover plants.

Between seventy-five thousand and a hundred thousand plants were produced by Lands and Forests from seed obtained from various sections of the United States and large numbers of them distributed to selected trial planting sites in various parts of Ontario. Others were retained by the Division of Research and planted as a hedge fence in several soil types at the Southern Research Station at Maple, near Toronto. They were cultivated in different ways to give a range of conditions. No attempt was made to protect the planting site or the plants themselves from the weather. The shrubs have been watched closely and records of growth and other factors kept for future reference.

When Shiplights Fail

ANEW device to prevent mishaps in ships at sea is being installed in three New Zealand Line vessels now under construction on the Clyde and at Leith.

Sudden darkness when a ship's lighting fails is always dangerous, as seamen and passengers may be going up stairways, climbing companionways, or working near moving machinery. To get rid of this danger, their vessels are being fitted with auxiliary lighting systems which will automatically switch on if the generators fail. Auxiliary lights will be placed near hatches, over machinery, and in engine-rooms and boiler-holds. Special attention will be paid to spaces around furnaces, stairways, and other danger points.

'Ware Toadstools

Even country folks are not always clear as to the difference between toadstools and mushrooms. Contrary to popular belief, not all mushrooms are good to eat or toadstools fatal.

There are three deadly growths, however, and they should be avoided. "The Death Cap" is responsible for more than half the deaths which result from fungus poisoning. It grows in the woods and, when young, looks like an egg coming up through the soil.

"Fools Mushroom" and the "Destroying Angel" are toadstools, varieties of the same species which are often taken for mushrooms.

The United States Supreme Court recently upheld a Michigan law which forbids women from being barmaids, in cities over 50,000 population, unless they are wives or daughters of a man owning a licensed liquor establishment.

Originally used by the Celts in Britain and Ireland, the Ogham language consisted of symbols, strokes or notches, scored on either side of a line, a system which had to be eked out by other signs.

An Old Metal

THE use of bronze dates from remote antiquity, copper being alloyed with tin, lead or silver in proportion to the purpose for which it was required or as times changed. Tools and weapons were probably the first articles made of this fusion of two metals which produced an alloy capable of being moulded and worked to take the most delicate impressions.

Casting in bronze reached a high standard of perfection in Great Britain during the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries and many examples still remain. The famous sanctuary ring on the door of the nave of Durham Cathedral is a remarkable and distinctive sample.

INTERNATIONAL NEWS

Mrs. General Orsborn Visits Denmark

MRS. General A. Orsborn, in Copenhagen for the Sixtieth Jubilee of Denmark's Women's Social Work, received press representatives at the training college, and afterwards met women's social work officers in a private gathering. Introduced by the Territorial Commander, Lt.-Commissioner Emmanuel Sundin, Mrs. Orsborn's practical talk, illustrated from her personal experience, was warmly received. Sunday's public meetings in Copenhagen Temple were richly blessed, the seekers, which included a doctor's widow, numbering twelve in the morning and twenty-two at night. In the afternoon Mrs. Orsborn visited the girls' industrial home, where many made decisions for Christ.

The Chief of the Staff (Commissioner John J. Allan) conducting stirring gatherings in Phoenix, Arizona, has reached thousands through the press, television and public address system. The Chief, introduced by the Territorial Commander, Lt.-Commissioner Claude Bates, was given a civic reception.—W. ALEX EBBS, LT.-COMMISSIONER.

TORONTO LEAGUE OF MERCY ANNUAL

Members Addressed by the Territorial Commander and Mrs. Commissioner Baugh

TORONTO and district League of Mercy members attended their annual dinner-gathering, arranged by Mrs. Sr.-Major R. Watt (League Sergeant-Major) on Tuesday evening last at a large restaurant on Bloor Street. Attending the event were the Territorial Commander and Mrs. Commissioner C. Baugh; the Chief Secretary and Mrs. Colonel R. Harewood; the Field Secretary and Mrs. Colonel G. Best (Territorial League of Mercy Secretary); the Divisional Commander and Mrs. Lt.-Colonel W. Carruthers (Divisional League of Mercy Secretary), and other officers.

Following the well-served meal the Commissioner remarked that the gathering would be the last League of Mercy annual in Toronto in which he and Mrs. Baugh would take part, prior to their retirement in June. He commended the League on its Christlike work among the sick, sad and sorrowing, and pronounced a benediction upon its self-sacrificing efforts. The day being the anniversary of the Army Founder's birth, would serve to make the meeting memorable to him and Mrs. Baugh, he said.

Mrs. Baugh added appreciative encouraging words to those of the Commissioner concerning the League's "Inasmuch" activities, and wished its members well in their labors more abundant. She concluded by quoting appropriate lines from a poem.

Two representative speakers who related inspiring "Inasmuch" incidents were Captain J. Carter, Mount Dennis, and Mrs. G. Tuck, North Toronto.

A number of new members were added to the roll, pins being presented by Mrs. Colonel Harewood, and commissions by Mrs. Colonel Best. The Territorial League of Mercy Secretary, receiving the newcomers, gave a brief resume of league activities throughout the Territory, reporting progress made in many directions.

In reading her annual report of the League's work in and around the city, League Sergeant-Major Mrs. Watt enumerated in statistical form the many hospitals and institutions visited by the members, and thanked all who had made possible the distribution of comforts and literature to sick people and shut-ins. In this connection Mrs. Major N. Boyle (R) and others were commended for their services at the Sunnybrook military hospital and other large centres.

The Chief Secretary who, with Mrs. Harewood, was attending his first League of Mercy annual at the Territorial Centre, offered a closing prayer. It will be recalled that the League was organized in Australia, land of the Colonel's birth, after having originated in the Land of the Maple.

A visitor at the gathering was Corps Sergeant-Major Hinton, who had done around twenty-five years of League of Mercy work in and around Kenora, Ont.

"Oh, What A Wonderful Day"

The Territorial Commander Visits Orillia and Belleville

SUCH a day it was! Winter staged a sudden come-back, and the Territorial Leader, Commissioner Chas. Baugh, braved a blizzard of slush as he journeyed to Orillia, Ont., for a public meeting on a recent Monday evening.

Not that our spirits were dampened by soggy snow, soggy mud; soggy rubbers, soggy umbrellas, and even soggy coats. 'Twas a clinging sort of day, and so we too clung to our faith in God and our Army heritage of rousing chorus and triumphant song and testimony.

As northerners, we are hardened to the caprice of wind and weather, which may account for the beaming countenances of belated travellers who with "Never say die" as their motto, were in a moment absorbed in, and into, as happy and jubilant a gathering as the spacious Army citadel has ever housed.

Out of rich and varied experience the Commissioner gave us his best. Now grave, now gay, the audience gave rapt attention, and great were the blessings garnered. The band, under Bandsman C. Flannigan; the Songsters, under Leader W. Hume; and the entire congregation, under the spell of the Commissioner's words, and the magic of Captain K. Rawlins' piano accompaniments, poured out their hearts in praise.

In the midst of the Commissioner's address, out went the lights! to be speedily replaced with candles. An interval, and they flashed on, brighter than ever; our heads bowed in heartfelt prayer, our hands were raised aloft as we voiced our personal experience; "He found me! oh, what a wonderful day!"

Delegates from Barrie, Gravenhurst, Bracebridge, Midland, and Collingwood shared the joy and inspiration of this Army gathering. The Commissioner was ably supported by the Divisional Commander and Mrs. Sr.-Major C. Warrender, Major N. Pride, and the Corps Officers, Captain and Mrs. C. Fisher.—Angel Lane.

A large crowd assembled in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Belleville, for a meeting conducted by the Commissioner, who was accompanied by the Field Secretary, Colonel G. Best. The Mid-Ontario Divisional Commander, Brigadier R. Gage, led the early portion of the meeting and warmly welcomed the visitors.

The Kingston Band and Songsters, with the Belleville musical combinations, provided instrumental (Continued foot column 4)

As the gathering was the Territorial Commander's last visit to the division before his retirement in June, representative speakers, including Mrs. Major W. Hawkes and Major C. Despite the inclement weather, comrades from the surrounding corps were out in force to greet their Territorial leader. They felt that the effort put forth to be present was compensated by the spiritual blessings received.

ADVISORY BOARD CHAIRMAN PASSES

The Divisional Commander for Nova Scotia, Brigadier H. Newman, reports that Mr. Charles P. Nickerson, Chairman of the New Glasgow Advisory Board, recently passed away after an illness of some months. Mr. Nickerson was a warm friend of the Army for many years, and had been chairman of the local Red Shield Appeal. At the date of his passing he was Chairman of the Advisory Board.

From the Pages of the Past

THE CANNONADE WAS HEARD ALL ROUND

From the "Canadian Advance," 1886. Continued from recent issues of The War Cry.

DURING November there was a lull in the advance to plot, to plan and recoup energies; but the bombardment cannonade was heard all round with the opening of December. The first Sunday of the month witnessed the inroad upon Woodstock, N.B., and Stellarton and Westville, Nova Scotia. Woodstock opened in Army parlance "with a bang," forty conversions, says the first report, and the work has flourished up to present writing, there has always been a health and vim about this station that has wrought marvels, many, many deep-dyed sinners have been brought to God and the whole community benefited, and some of its social sores cleansed and removed. Westville too, proved a mighty victory — a hundred souls professing Salvation in the first two weeks, and a flourishing corps today testifies to the reality and substantiality of the work done. Of Stellarton "the grandest opening I have ever seen," says the first report; "impossible to describe the victory; seventy out for Salvation," and the work has prospered ever since. This month too, opened Beeton, in the Barrie division, where a good work is being carried on, and so 1885 closed amidst the din of battles and with the prospect of greater and increasing achievements.

The Wonderful Book

Being born again, not of corruptible seed, but of incorruptible, by the Word of God.

1 Peter 1, 23.

THE Bible has proved its unique power of propagating the Divine Life which itself possesses. It has faced the most relentless opposition, and has overcome. It has stood up against the most obdurate tyranny, and the blackest ignorance. It has put an end to cruelty, superstition, impurity and mis-government.

A Word To The Wise

A PERTINENT QUESTION

HAS the devil succeeded in getting you to centre your attention on the paltry trinkets of time, rather than the priceless treasures of eternity? "What shall it profit a man, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul?"

THE FRENCH PRESIDENT

Commends the Army's Work

DURING the reception given to President and Madame Vincent Auriol, in Toronto, when the Lieutenant Governor of the Province, the Premier, and the Mayor, and other leading citizens tendered the distinguished visitors a hearty welcome, the Prison Secretary, Lt.-Colonel W. Bunton was present. The Colonel was introduced to the President, who shook hands cordially and remarked that in France the Army is "a great organization." He expressed his good wishes for the success of the Army in Canada.

FAMOUS ARMY RALLYING SPOT

Great Former "Temple of Glass"

EXACTLY 100 years ago the Crystal Palace was erected in London's Hyde Park to house "The Great Exhibition of 1851." Later this "Temple of Glass" was re-erected at Sydenham where, for many years, on Army "Big Days," it became a rallying point for thousands of Salvationists. Music played a prominent part in these gatherings.

If you have an interesting musical memory concerning one of the Army's "C.P." days, send it to "The Musician," William Booth College, Denmark Hill, S.E. 5.

Five shilling vouchers exchangeable for goods at Salvationists Publishing and Supplies, Ltd., will be awarded for the four best contributions.

WORKED AMONG SOUTHERN PEOPLE

A native son of Bermuda, Brigadier J. N. Roberts (R) was recently promoted to Glory from Washington, D.C., after having given fifty-seven years of consecutive service to the Army. The promoted warrior was born in St. Georges, and with Mrs. Roberts successfully organized evangelistic community work among Negro people in the Southern U.S. Territory, principally those who returned from war service. The funeral service was conducted by the Territorial Commander, Commissioner A. E. Chesham.

NOTE CHANGE OF ADDRESS

The Editorial Department, after having occupied the premises at Albert Street corner for more than six decades has now transferred its offices to 471 Jarvis Street (at Wellesley Street). The new Printing House is situated at the rear of the site.

UNIT IN A WORLD-WIDE CRUSADE FOR CLEAN WHOLESOME LITERATURE: During the past few months the Army's Printing Department, Toronto, has been busily engaged transferring presses, machinery and equipment to the new plant at the rear of 471 Jarvis Street. The photograph affords an idea of the exterior of the building in which installations, still to be completed, have been made. Operations are now in full swing, but some weeks may elapse before the old Albert Street plant is entirely vacated. Noteworthy is the fact that the transfer, involving much planning and labor, has been effected without the loss of a single issue of The War Cry and Young Soldier. Incidentally, the first section of the Christmas Special Number is now ready for the presses, which have been renovated for better service.

'FINEST MARCHING ARMY IN THE WORLD'

King's Counsel Presides at Memorable Anniversary Rally At the Territorial Centre

HIGHLIGHT of Toronto Temple's Sixty-fifth Anniversary weekend was the Sunday afternoon Citizens' Rally, when the historic auditorium was packed to the doors. Mr. R. G. Meech, K.C., representing the Army's Advisory Board and an enthusiastic Red Shield Appeal worker, presided with acceptance at the gathering and Peterborough Temple Songster Brigade, a visiting sixty-voice aggregation, and Toronto Temple Band, with individual instrumentalists, made an outstanding musical contribution to a memorable event.

Present and supporting at the meeting were a number of leading citizens including Controller L. E. Saunders, representing the City of Toronto; Mr. J. Milton Cork, Chairman of the Board, Loblaw's Ltd.; the Retired Officers League, and many out-of-town visitors. The anniversary address was given by Lt.-Colonel W. Maltby, Divisional Commander for Western New York (with headquarters at Buffalo) and son of the pioneer officer of Halifax, N.S., Captain Nellie Banks. The Colonel, an Army composer of note, during the week-end's meetings introduced new choruses written by himself.

The Corps Officer, Major Chas. Watt, cordially welcomed the visitors; the Divisional Commander, Lt.-Colonel W. Carruthers, led the singing of a rousing war-song, and Major M. Flannigan, in charge of the Toronto and district Red Shield Campaign, briefly introduced the chairman as representing the Army's stalwart "support troops," who gave their valuable time and practical effort to the Red Shield campaign throughout the Canadian Territory.

The chairman made a brisk, business-like speech. Referring to the Temple's anniversary, he said: "You people have a decided right to be proud of your sixty-five years of service in the heart of this city, and to take an afternoon off to celebrate the event. Not enough words can be said in support of the work the Army is doing in this community or elsewhere."

The varied musical program brought enjoyment well-mixed with blessing to a thoroughly-appreciative audience, the modulated singing of the visiting brigade under the baton of Songster-leader Ben Smith, for twenty-five years in charge of the internationally-famous combination, being especially well received. Their crowning effort was Handel's Hallelujah Chorus rendered before a standing audience at the close of a memorable meeting.

TWO MUSICAL JUBILEES

IN the Diamond Jubilee Year of the International Staff Band (Leader, Colonel N. Duggins; Bandmaster, Major B. Adams) there was topical interest in the message brought from the Melbourne Territorial Staff Band to the International Staff Band by Colonel P. Dale and read during an International Staff Band festival at Croydon Citadel, for the Melbourne Staff Band has just celebrated its jubilee.

The British Commissioner, Commissioner Wm. R. Dalziel, as a member of the International Music Board and former Staff Bandsman, made a most competent chairman, and his mention of the history and traditions of the Croydon Citadel Corps and Band, for whose new instrument scheme the festival was given, showed expert knowledge.

FESTIVAL OF BRITAIN

THE Salvation Army will be represented at the Festival Centre of Youth at St. Anne's, Shaftesbury Avenue, Soho, from June 11th to September 16th. This building will be, during that time, a rendezvous for youth. Displays will take place there and there will be literature available, a photographic section to give visitors an idea of the activities of Britain's youth organizations and representative examples of various handicrafts.

Excellent - rendered selections were given by Toronto Temple Band led by Captain K. Rawlins, and Songster Brigade (Leader R. De'Ath), and a lively snare-drum solo by Bandsman D. Dowding, grandson of nonegenarian Adjutant T. Harpley, oldest of the large company of veteran officers present, brought this comment from the chairman: "I see now why the Salvation Army is the finest marching army in the world." The percussionist was accompanied by a group of instrumentalists.

A unique item on the program was a xylophone selection played expertly on two instruments by four of Peterborough's women-songsters, all married—Mrs. K. Payne, Mrs. C. Ede, Mrs. B. Smith and Mrs. R. Routly. Their playing of the well-known spiritual song, "In the Garden," and a pianoforte and or-

Have You Remembered The Salvation Army In Your Will?

SINCE the year 1865 The Salvation Army has demonstrated its effectiveness in dealing with human problems, distress and maladjustments, through its varied and highly-organized network of character-building activities.

The Salvation Army is legally competent to accept bequests. Upon request, information or advice will be furnished by:

EARLSCOURT, Toronto, League is continuing its work of kindness in remembering the older folk and "shut-ins" of the corps. Each month a personal letter on attractive stationery is sent to them, and they are kept informed of corps' activities, members visiting as many as possible during the week. Reports of the visits made are interesting, and there are from ten to twenty each week. One of the members recently undertook the task of looking after a couple who were ill, and nursed them until they both passed away. The sunshine group also remembers the old folk in institutions, bringing them encouragement and cheer.

Captain T. Bell, of Cobb's Hill, Bermuda, which is an outpost of Hamilton, writes that the league is doing well. Twenty-eight members were present for the rally and tea, as compared with eight members who attended last year. Mrs. Sr.-Major G. Hartas, the Divisional Home League Secretary, brought words of greeting and encouragement, preceding a happy time of fellowship and games, followed by a devotional period. It is good to note that "each member is determined to make a better year, to

THE TERRITORIAL HOME LEAGUE SECRETARY
Lieut.-Colonel Annie Fairhurst

Secretary at Yorkville, Toronto, reports a successful sale and supper. The league in the Old Land was remembered with a parcel. Mrs. Sr.-Captain J. Dougall and the secretary have plans well in hand for the future.

The "Home League News and Views" from Ellice Avenue, prepared by Mrs. Sr.-Captain H. Sharp, contains much to inspire and stimulate. There is much evidence of interest and worthwhile activity. Grace, glory, trust and witness are the roll-call words for February. One week will be "Sunshine service to shut-in-sisters." There will also be a cooky contest, each entrant bringing one and one-half dozen cookies, which will be displayed and judged, the dainties being sent to Sunset Lodge. Then there will be a "surprise day" when young leaguers will be in charge. "Wind-up" week will have a demonstration of ideas for entertaining at showers. We are glad to see the league aiming at a definite target of twenty new members. Cottage meetings are being arranged when the members gather for prayer and cheer the sick. Women of five local churches united at Ellice Avenue Citadel, Winnipeg, for the Women's World Day of Prayer Service led by Mrs. Sharp, when Mrs. Major J. Matthews was the speaker.

A Quilting Bee

From the Medicine Hat "Torchbearer" we note an interesting dedication performed in the Home League by Major E. Nesbitt. There is hope of securing the mother as a member. Attendance has been good. A day's quilting bee had to be postponed because of the cold. Evidently the Airport Outpost League is continuing with handicrafts.

New Brunswick and P.E.I. Divisional newsletter contains an important item: "We are happy to see that there have been five conversions and two soldiers made through the league during past months." This is the kind of thing which encourages all, and repays for sacrifice and service.

St. James, Winnipeg, Man., Missionary group recently put on a varied and musical program. Neepawa, Man. assisted in a "monster tea," sponsored by church women in aid of equipment for the new hospital, which it is hoped will be opened in May. Mrs. R. Lowe, the acting secretary poured tea, and Captain J. Ferguson was one of the hostesses with the minister's wives. Home League Secretary Mrs. C. Bay recently visited the league from B.C. and brought much blessing. Mrs. Major W. Ross recently conducted a meeting at Fort Frances, Ont., and found a happy group of women working.

create better homes and, in so doing, prepare a better world." A worthy ambition. During the past year fourteen new members have been added to the roll. The league, besides taking charge of a bazaar, which brought in over ninety dollars' profit for the Girls' Home, also raised forty-five dollars for furnishings. Three visits were made to the Packwood Old Folks' Home and, on each occasion following a meeting, an offering of foodstuffs was given. Several visits to "shut-ins" were made in the form of cottage meetings; gifts of fruit were made at each home. We congratulate Captain and Mrs. Bell on this fine report. The league is one of their "extra mile" activities, as our comrades are in charge of the Warwick Remand Home.

Aids Girls' Home

Mrs. Hartas reports interesting recreational events among the Bermudian leagues and mentions help given to the sick, "shut-ins," and needy folk. The leagues have also done well with projects. Somerset, (1st Lieuts. McCrea and Paynter), sent a parcel to England. Southampton, (Sr.-Captain R. Best and Pro.-Lieut. R. Sherman) Secretary Mrs. Lambert and Treasurer Mrs. Wade, and members, have been doing special visitation and helping the needy. Twelve members undertook carolling, bringing financial help to the corps as well as blessing to the people. The league has also raised five pounds for the Girls' Home.

Mrs. Captain C. Bonar's report of work in the North Bay Home League indicates progress. The quarterly public meeting was conducted by Mrs. Sr.-Major Warrander, and a "family night" was conducted by Mrs. Major G. Tanner (R) when forty were present, then there was a fine attendance for a social. Members have given help to the civic hospital, mending, etc., which was highly commended by hospital authorities who said, "The most wonderful day's work accomplished for the year by any one group of women." They have also helped with many local events for the underprivileged. The sale of work, first for many years, was also a success. Mrs. Bonar says, "The women deserve a lot of credit for the most wonderful contribution of time and effort which they gave to making the last quarter of the year so successful."

Mrs. Lt.-Colonel J. Acton (R) has brought to our attention a worthwhile missionary project. Colonel F. Ham is anxious to have Commissioner Brenzle's book "Helps to Holiness" printed for distribution in the Argentine. About $500. is needed. Already Mrs. Acton has made a start on this worthy cause.

THE MAGIC OF SPRING

Is A Symbol of Love

THE miracle of spring is being manifested again. The winter, though not as long here in New Zealand, has this year had more than its share of dull grey days. Depressed in spirit, one has just plodded on and on, drying wet coats and boots by the fire, hanging out the washing in snatches, whenever the weather has permitted—a seemingly endless routine.

Yet in spite of the dull winter weather there has been unceasing activity in the world of nature. On one of the very worst days I noticed a crocus blooming, and now that the sun is shining once more there is a transformation in the garden. A prunus tree is gay with blossom; daffodils are in flower; opening buds give promise of fruit to come.

The birds are busy, too, gathering material for their nests. The heart rejoices and the spirit is uplifted because of the return of spring. Dull days may still come, but there is evidence of brightness ahead.

There are dark days in the world today. Ominous clouds of strife and distress hang over all; there seems to be nothing to brighten the winter of mankind. Most people go on day after day, hoping for the best but not knowing where to look for it.

To the child of God the outlook would be just as depressing, but for this difference: God has promised that the world's dark night will be changed to a bright new day. He bids His children be of good cheer, saying, "Lift up your heads; for your redemption draweth nigh." It is in the time of the world's winter that the promise is to be fulfilled.

A bright new day will be ushered in by the return of our Saviour as King of kings and Lord of lords. Those who have been redeemed by His blood have no need to fear, even if the dark days of the present are followed by still darker ones, for they possess that joy of heart that is the outcome of perfect trust. A South Slope Is Best

For That Garden of Yours

(Concluded from last week)

A PUZZLE to be solved by the amateur gardener is how much seed to buy. The following figures will give a general idea of the correct quantity required for the sowing too thickly, the roots of the plants left in the ground are disturbed and their development checked, no matter how carefully the operation may be carried out. It must also be remembered that plants must have air and room to grow and expand. Overcrowding, however temporary, retards their growth.

Like garden seed, it is important to secure nursery stock—fruit trees, rose bushes, shrubs, perennial flowers, etc. — only from a reliable source, preferably from a nursery fairly near home and one that is familiar with and caters to conditions in the territory where these are to be planted.

Good nursery stock is pliable, green and shows plenty of live buds. Roots should be moist and well wrapped to exclude the air while the plants are being transported. These will grow readily when planted. Brittle wood, wrinkled buds, or none at all, and exposed, dry roots are an indication of inferior, cheap stock. If such plants grow at all, it will take years for them to make a real showing.

The new seed catalogues will furnish the home gardener with many interesting hours. Most of them are works of art, freely illustrated, often in color.

Select with Care

Undoubtedly the amateur will be confused by the vast number of varieties of flowers offered. Unless he knows what he wants, looks up a particular flower in several catalogues and finally chooses the variety best suited to his needs, he is liable to lose his judgment among the many glowing descriptions.

Catalogues should be approached in a business-like manner. The gardener should first review his garden, its aspect, soil and locality. Is the ground naturally wet or dry, cold or sheltered, heavy clay, light loam, chalky, lime-free or sandy? He must consider the garden's possibilities. Is there a spot where climbing flowers will grow? What about window-boxes? Is there a bank down which trailing flowers may tumble? Would one or two plants in tubs look well? Is there a barren, difficult corner to fill? Are there some old favorites which cannot be neglected? The wise gardener will make a list of such conditions, and also jot down the color schemes he may desire.

Catalogues should then be opened and answers to requirements sought. The number of flowers suitable for different positions is so extensive and seed lists so comprehensive that the ideal inmate for any particular location can be found with a little search.

It is of utmost importance that plants suitable for the positions they are to occupy should be selected; even pedigree stock cannot flourish in an unfavorable location. For instance, it is useless planting the strongest, most expensive peat-lovers in limey soil, or little subjects from South Africa in a shady border.

The home gardener will do well to look for the new varieties of old favorites. Such popular subjects as poppies, godetias and cornflowers, are improved yearly. New varieties of such flowers show a tremendous advance on the older ones, yet many people still grow inferior varieties through reluctance to try something different. The gardener will get much interest and satisfaction experimenting with uncommon and little-known plants (annuals are rich in these).

BAKING soda can be put to many cleaning jobs around the house. There is nothing better to gently scour china, pottery, cooking utensils or glass or enamelware, that would be scratched by coarser scouring materials. Soda is a reliable cleaner that cleans gently yet at the same time cleans well.

Tea or coffee stains in china cups or pitchers may be removed with a damp cloth dipped in baking soda.

Soda will also help to soften food that has burned on enamelware or glass. Just fill the scorched kettle with water, add a tablespoon of baking soda for a large kettle, or a teaspoonful for a smaller one, and allow to soak for an hour or so. Then heat the water gradually, loosening the burned food with a wooden spoon.

A tablespoon of soda in the dishwasher cuts down grease and speeds up the task. After frying strong smelling foods pour off excess grease and sprinkle baking soda generously around the skillet to check the odor. Works the same way in a kettle you have boiled cabbage, broccoli, or any other strong smelling vegetable in.

To get egg stain off silverware rub with a small amount of dry soda on a soft, damp cloth.

The Upward Path

AT the bend of a road where the pavement ends, There is a long lane where the foot-path winds

On to a common—where hummocks of thyme Surround the hollows where harebells chime, The skylarks go soaring, a paean is sung.

To the common for nesting and sheltering their young.

The gorse bushes flame with their candles of gold, And heather embraces the edge of the wold;

The pine-trees and cedars like sentinels range, No seasons their rich sombre hues ever change.

A carpet of needles to crush under foot, How firmly established beneath lies each root!

Below is the town—it has beauty up here— It shelters the families to somebody dear;

The roofs of its houses like ribbons do wind, And hedges each garden of every size bind.

Climbing to where the eye can behold A bit of earth's patchwork, each colour and fold,

Are a part of God's thought, and all people who share His love are protected by His tender care.

OSHAWA'S SIXTY-SEVENTH ANNIVERSARY LED BY THE CHIEF SECRETARY

SIXTY-SEVENTH anniversary celebrations at Oshawa, Ont. (Major and Mrs. G. Dockery) commenced with a march of witness on Saturday night, followed by a musical festival given by the brass and timbrel bands of the North Toronto Corps. According to the local press the musicians who participated in the musical festival excelled themselves, and the crowd that overflowed every seat and every doorway enjoyed it to the full. The cutting of the birthday cakes in the lower hall was performed by veteran comrades, Sister Mrs. Thomas Coull and Mrs. Major H. Osbourn.

Sunday's meetings were led by the Chief Secretary. As the Colonel expounded the truths of Scripture, the audiences were profoundly stirred. Assisting were the Divisional Commander and Mrs. Brigadier R. Gage and the local band and songster brigade.

Civic leaders gathered at the citadel in the afternoon in honor of the occasion. "The work of the Army is reflected in the life of Oshawa in many ways," said Mayor Michael Starr who presided. "It is not always given the recognition it deserves because, in many instances, it is done without the knowledge of the public."

Walter Thomson, K.C., Liberal leader, said that he knew of no other organization which, throughout the long years of its history, had worked with such constancy and determination for good. The whole theme of the work of the Army was best expressed in the hymn, "Onward Christian Soldiers."

The tremendous growth of The Salvation Army was understandable when an assessment was made of the good it did all over the world, said T. D. Thomas, M.L.A., who also spoke briefly.

The Chief Secretary's vivid address on the Army's world-wide ramifications was listened to attentively.

An excellent musical program by the local band and songster brigade and individual musicians was of great blessing.

A blessing-filled salvation meeting at night climaxed an encouraging week-end, with seekers at the Mercy-Seat.

IN THE MID-ONTARIO DIVISION

The Field Secretary and Mrs. Colonel G. Best Lead On

STIRRING meetings were conducted by the Field Secretary and Mrs. Colonel Best at Belleville, Ont. This was familiar ground to our visitors as they had frequently visited this centre when divisional leaders.

Saturday night a bright praise meeting was enjoyed, when officers and comrades from Trenton joined forces with the Belleville Salvationists, and rendered some much appreciated musical numbers. A time of inspiration was experienced. Following the meeting Mrs. Best met with the League of Mercy members and prospective members, and discussed future plans.

Sunday was a day of spiritual outpouring. The presence of the Holy Spirit was manifest and, following a gripping holiness address by the Colonel three seekers knelt at the Mercy-Seat.

During the afternoon company meeting the children at Station Street and at the citadel warmly greeted the visitors, and listened with interest to the messages given. At night a blessed time was experienced when, in the prayer-meeting after the Colonel's forthright message, four seekers knelt at the Mercy-Seat.

A time of blessing was enjoyed by those who attended the meeting on Monday night at Bowmanville, Ont. The comrades entered heartily into the singing and testimony period. Following the Colonel's heart-stirring address there was much rejoicing over two penitents claiming forgiveness. The Divisional Commander and Mrs. Brigadier R. Gage also participated in each of these meetings.

Much of the blessing of God is being enjoyed at Fairbank, Toronto Corps (Captain and Mrs. S. Tuck). During the recent "I Believe" Crusade many sought the Lord, and a number of re-consecrations were made. Attendances are excellent and a spirit of revival prevails.

The visit of the Field Secretary and Mrs. Colonel G. Best was enjoyed by a capacity crowd. During the meeting the Colonel dedicated the infant son of the Corps Officer.

officers who contributed much in inspiration and blessing were Major and Mrs. C. Hiltz and Sr.-Major and Mrs. H. Wood. Easter Sunday was a day of rejoicing, when two senior soldiers and nine junior soldiers were enrolled. It is encouraging to see more uniform being worn, and new converts taking their stand for God.

ILLUSTRATED MEETINGS

"THOUGHTS around Calvary," a service of song, was presented at Winnipeg Citadel during the Easter season by Major J. Matthews, assisted by the band, songsters and soloists. Songster Maxine Matthews took the role of reader and Brother Ivan Robson gave chalk-portrayals of incidents in the Easter Story. During the artist's presentation of the various stages of Christ's passion, His trial and crucifixion, selections of music were rendered.

The downtown section of the city rang with the exhilarating tones of Easter songs on Sunday morning, as the band and a large group of comrades marched the streets of the Manitoba Gateway City.

In perfect spring-like weather the comrades formed a huge ring outside the Citadel and further proclaimed: "Hallelujah, Christ Arose!"

Indoors, Mrs. Major Matthews drew helpful lessons from the miraculous happenings, when Paul and Silas sang songs at midnight, and the prisoners were released and the jailer saved.

In the afternoon Young People's Sergeant-Major J. Timmerman directed an Easter program, attended by a large number of parents at the Young People's Sergeant-Major's invitation. A splendid program was presented, and attendance awards, seals and prizes were distributed. Sick comrades of several corps were not forgotten when the large display of spring flowers were distributed by young people's local officers.

"The Resurrection of Christ" was the title of Sunday night's meeting led by the songsters and bandsmen. The songsters were without their leader, W. Somerville, who was a flu victim. Bandmaster F. Merrett, however, did double duty.

The Scripture readings, in which some of the songsters took part, were interwoven with the appro-

During a recent noonday prayer-meeting conducted by the Chief Secretary, Colonel R. Harewood, at Territorial Headquarters, Lt.-Colonel Frank Fairbank, of the Audit Department, International Headquarters, was introduced to an assembly of officers by the Auditor-General, Lt.-Commissioner T. Laurie. Prior to reaching Toronto the visitor had spent several weeks in the West Indies. He brought greetings from Canadian-trained officers stationed in that part of the Army's battlefield.

Brigadier Ada Irwin, formerly Financial Secretary in Korea, is announced to visit the Alberta Division from April 28 to May 11, the Albertan Salvationist (divisional newsletter) announces. The Brigadier will lead meetings in Edmonton, March 28-29, and in Calgary, April 4-5.

Brigadier Mabel Bell, a Canadian-trained officer, who has been stationed at Territorial Headquarters, Sydney, Australia, for a number of years, has been promoted to the rank of Lt.-Colonel.

Major Elizabeth Craven, who retired from active service in 1940, was recently promoted to Glory from London, England. The Major gave many years of service at the Mother's Hospital in Clapton, London, and visited Canada on several occasions when in charge of parties travelling to Canada under the Army Migration Department.

Major Muriel Charlton, Sarnia, has completed twenty-five years as an officer, admitting her to the Army's Long Service Order.

Major Annie Osell, Sunset Lodge, Toronto, and Mrs. Captain J. Robertson, Prince Albert, have been bereaved, of their brother, John who recently passed away as the result of an accident.

Sr.-Major Harry Ashby, of Toronto, Ont., and Sr.-Major Arthur Ashby, Southern Territory, U.S.A., have been bereaved of their mother, who recently passed away in Toronto. The bereaved husband, Mr. Edwin Ashby, is a veteran of the Army's early days in England, and 1st. Lieut. Zilpah Lavender, Shelburne, N.S., is a grand-daughter.

Major Minnie Clark, of Territorial Headquarters, Toronto, has been bereaved of her mother, who recently passed away in Toronto.

Captain Mary Murkin, Territorial Headquarters, has been bereaved of her father, who recently passed away in Weston, Winnipeg.

Captain Doris Davies, of the Montreal Catherine Booth Hospital has been bereaved of her father, Bandsman J. Davies, of Chatham, Ont.

Golden Wedding Jubilee

Brother and Sister David Garrett, Midland Corps, recently celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding. These comrades have been soldiers of the corps for over fifty years, states Captain A. Robinson.

priate selections of music. Major Matthews made a powerful appeal for reconsecration. There was a wave of conviction and Easter Sunday was climaxed in the singing of the joyful doxology, "Give to Jesus Glory."—J.R.W.

SASKATCHEWAN DIVISION CONQUESTS

Reports from North Battleford state that campaign meetings conducted by 1st. Lieut. and Mrs. R. Hicks and Sr.-Captain P. Gorrie were well attended. At the young people's annual the building was full for an unusual presentation. The hall was especially prepared to represent a boat, and the children wore "gob" hats as the crew of the "Gospel Ship." The whole program was well received, and following the presentation of awards, the company guards concluded with an appealing object lesson, "the Gospel Lighthouse."

Captain J. Robertson reports a fine week-end at Prince Albert, with Sr.-Captain and Mrs. S. Mundy. Good Friday the Youth Group presented a drama, "Into Thy Kingdom." Icy streets did not discourage the band and songsters as they rallied for the early Easter Sunday morning march. About thirty-five comrades gathered for a "fellowship breakfast." During the holiness meeting twelve junior soldiers were enrolled. Throughout the day a spirit of comradeship prevailed.

A busy Easter week-end was led by Sr.-Major and Mrs. H. Chapman at Estevan (Captain and Mrs. R. Peacock). Good Friday afternoon a meeting was held in the hall which was well attended. The Major was also the speaker at an early morning united meeting at Macoun, which was followed by breakfast in the community hall.

Helpful Eastertide gatherings were

Recalling Past Influences

Sr.-Major and Mrs. D. Snowden (R) led Sunday's meetings at Dovercourt Citadel (Sr.-Major and Mrs. W. O'Donnell). Thirty-eight years ago the Major entered the work in Canada, a decision brought about by listening to the band as he sat on the veranda of his house near the hall.

During the meeting, many testified to the Blessing of a Clean Heart. The band and songster brigade helped musically, and added to the blessing of the meeting. The Major, in his address exhorted his hearers to emulate the teachings of St. Paul, as recorded in the thirteenth chapter of 1st Corinthians.

The citadel was packed at night. After giving the Scripture reading, Mrs. Snowden testified to the saving grace of God in her life. Brother E. Hakkirk, from the west, brother of the Bandmaster was given a warm welcome. During the Major's message he appealed to backsliders to return to the fold, and implored the unsaved to accept Jesus as their Saviour. One seeker came forward.

Firemen Appreciate Help

Sarnia Corps, Ont. (Majors M. Charlton and F. Morgan). During the worst fire in thirty years, the soldiers rallied to serve doughnuts and coffee to the weary firemen. They were on duty from nine a.m. till four constantly, and this service was greatly appreciated.

Easter Sunday visitors from Toronto, formerly soldiers of the corps, rallied round. The day started with a march. During the morning meeting the testimonies were led by former Sergeant-Major F. Walter, now of Brock Avenue, Toronto. Lieutenant H. Ritchie, of Territorial Headquarters also took part.

In the company meeting there was an enrolment of junior soldiers; in the salvation meeting at night also senior soldiers and adherents were enrolled. Sunday night, a bandsman from Scotland was welcomed and transferred to the corps. A letter of commendation from the corps officer of Clydebank, Scotland was read. The hall was filled to capacity and two souls surrendered, one a backslider of years' standing.

held at Saskatoon Citadel (Major and Mrs. S. Jackson). There were excellent crowds, with the hall being filled on Good Friday evening for "An Hour at the Cross." On Sunday evening the Corps Officer enrolled seven senior soldiers and one junior soldier. A series of eight-day campaign meetings were a success.

The entrance and facade of the citadel, is being made more attractive and illuminated with a neon sign. The installation has been completed and the "turning-on" ceremony took place Sunday evening prior to the regular meeting.

A service of meditation was held at Saskatoon Westside (Sr.-Captain and Mrs. P. Gorrie) on Good Friday with a good attendance. Junior soldiers were enrolled on Easter Sunday afternoon and one senior soldier was enrolled in the evening meeting.—Divisional Newsletter.

Self-Denial Saving League income $80. 2. Enrolment of four senior soldiers. 3. An early Easter Sunday morning march. 4. A fine attendance at all meetings.

Moncton (Major and Mrs. H. Legge). Good attendances were registered at the holiness and salvation meetings. A special Easter offering amounted to well over $80. Sunday morning's meeting was broadcast, and many have been the expressions for the typical Salvation Army type of service. Three junior soldiers were enrolled in the company meeting and eight senior soldiers sworn in at night.

Newcastle (1st. Lieut. R. Hammond, Pro.-Lieut. L. Thibideau). Major J. Martin has conducted a helpful campaign. Sunday night's meeting was broadcast and three seekers were registered. During the children's meeting on Monday a number of young people knelt at the Mercy-Seat.

Sackville (Sr.-Captain B. Earle, Captain E. Zwicker). In the holiness meeting five children were dedicated and two soldiers were enrolled at night.

Saint John Citadel (Captain and Mrs. J. Zarfes). During Passion Week, meetings were conducted every night. A special service was arranged by the Corps Officer for Good Friday morning and the Sunday meetings were well attended. A late open-air meeting was held Sunday night, with a view to reaching the people who were attending the midnight shows.

Saint John Brinley Street (Captain and Mrs. J. Amos) enrolled one senior soldier and had seven seekers in the afternoon meeting.

West Saint John (Captain L. Hanson, Pro.-Lieut. E. Shaw) reports the largest attendance for some time at the company meeting.

A WARMING GESTURE

A FIRELESS grate on a frosty day is a cheerless sight and householders without fuel merit much sympathy. When the Bandmaster and Band-Sergeant of a North London band visited an ailing bandsman recently and found him to be without coal, (coal is scarce in England) they offered more than sympathy, however. Touring the houses of his fellow-bandsmen in his sturdy, but battered Austin 7, the Band Sergeant begged several lumps of coal from each colleague and took a sackful to the needy bandsman.

An evidence of the keen interest this Band-Sergeant takes in his men is given by the fact that when another colleague was taken to a Norwich hospital, "Sarge" once again brought out his "baby Austin" and undertook the lengthy journey to visit him.

A BOY'S QUESTION

THE other week while backing out of the lane behind the Toronto Men's Hostel, a little boy, thinking our place was a factory, (for we are in an industrial area) said to me, "Mister, what do you make in there?"

I stopped to think for a moment and then said, "We make men."

"Oh!" he said surprisingly, "do you help God?"

I answered, "Yes, sonny, that's exactly what we do—help God to make men."

May we in our everyday life be busy praying and working to help God make men, Christian men out of those whom the devil and the powers of darkness have endeavoured to destroy.

Meeting Broadcast

Recent meetings at the Moncton, N.B. Corps (Major and Mrs. H. Legge) were full of blessing. The Sunday morning gathering was broadcast over the local station and was well attended. The band and songster brigade were heard in excellent music and song. Sergeant-Major H. Ulla sang a solo, and Corps Cadet Alma Englehart and Songster Mrs. D. Miller testified. The infant son of Bandsman and Mrs. E. Geddes was dedicated.

The largest congregation for years was present in the evening. The main feature of this service was the enrolment of eight recruits, both men and women, all of whom have recently found the Saviour. Brigadier G. Davis gave the message.

Revival fire is still aglow at Paris, Ont. Corps (Captain E. Burton, 2nd. Lieut. D. Trussell). Easter Sunday two young people were enrolled as senior soldiers and, during the prayer-meeting that followed, five seekers knelt at the Mercy-Seat.

TRANSCRIPTION CHANGE

Listeners-in to the Army's transcription series, "This is My Story," in the Toronto area are asked to note that C.K.E.Y. has made a total revision of its broadcasting schedules. The Sunday night broadcast is now heard at 9.30 p.m.

No Idle Fingers

Vancouver, B.C., Heights Corps (Captain R. Bloom). The comrades are gratified to be able to report that the work of God's Holy Spirit was plainly manifested throughout the "I Believe" Campaign.

Colonel and Mrs. J. Tyndall (R) assisted at the Sunday evening meetings, and the Colonel's forceful presentation of the fundamental truths outlining the divine plan of redemption was an inspiration. Thursday evening prayer meetings have been well attended, and spiritual refreshing received.

The Divisional Commander and Mrs. Lt.-Colonel L. Ursaki took part in the open-air meeting, also leading on indoors.

The Home League is very much alive, and is increasing in membership. The weekly meetings are much appreciated, with a regular attendance and no idle fingers, as can be proved by the volume of work completed.

At the united holiness meeting every chair in the hall was filled, Captain J. Gillespie, and Major K. Graham leading on. The address was a call for unconditional surrender to God's will.

Fresh consecrations were made during the campaign, and a new determination to be true and faithful witnesses for the Master has been shown by many comrades.

The funeral service was conducted by the Corps Officer, Lieut. E. Ivany, assisted by Captain Evelyn Rennie, of Wallaceburg, who gave the message. Corps Cadet Doreen Thornton sang "Goodnight and Good morning." Mrs. Lieut. Ivany offered prayer. Sympathy is extended to Mrs. Davis who is an energetic worker in the corps.

BROTHER E. REID

Halifax North Citadel

After many years of loyal and faithful service for God and the Army, Brother Esau Reid, laid down the sword to receive from his Master the glad "Well Done."

Converted over sixty years ago at Heart's Delight, Newfoundland, he was enrolled as a senior soldier, and during the long years held many positions of trust and responsibility as a Local Officer, in Newfoundland, New England States, later at Montreal when he was attached to the Social Corps, also at Dartmouth, N.S., and finally at North Halifax Citadel.

Brother Reid was active until, a little over a year ago he suffered a severe stroke, was confined to bed, during which time he was always cheerful and had a keen interest in the corps activities until his Home going.

The funeral service was conducted by the Corps Officer, Major V. MacLean, Brigadier H. Newman, the Divisional Commander, as well as Major A. Hill and Major Moulton also took part. Fine tributes were paid to the departed warrior's life.

The memorial service was held on the following Sunday evening, when the citadel was filled to capacity. A number of comrades, including Lieutenant T. Zwicker, spoke of the influence and life of our late Brother. The meeting closed with a number of seekers kneeling at the Mercy-Seat.

The funeral service was conducted by the Corps Officer, Major P. Johnson. Brother T. Jones, Sr.,

ing as a babe was but an illustration that Christ came not to trust in material wealth and power. In fact He had no where to lay His head and not even enough of this world's goods to pay the temple tax. Listen to His word as He taught the people at the beginning of His ministry—"Take no thought for your life what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink; nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on. Is not the life more than meat, and the body than raiment? Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and His righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you. . . Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth . . . but lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven . . . for where your treasure is, there will your heart be also." Yes, the glory of Jesus lay in His unfailing recognition of the transcendence of the spiritual.

Then I would say that the glory of Christ lay secondly in His constant communion with the Heavenly Father. Save for that one dread moment on the Cross when He was made sin for us (that we might be forever freed from its curse and made the righteousness of God in Him), there never was a moment when Christ was not in conscious fellowship with God. Speaking from the human angle, for Christ was truly man even as He was truly God, — this unbroken communion was based upon two things, first upon His wonderful familiarity with the word of God — restricted in His day to what we now term the Old Testament — and secondly upon His constant periods of prayer. From the temptation in the wilderness to the agonized cry upon the Cross, our Lord quoted words of Scripture upon every occasion. All that God had revealed of Himself to prophets, priests and psalmists Christ had stored in His wonderful mind until He truly knew God, quite apart, as it were, from that knowledge of God which was His through His own divinity. He lived in the presence of God, for He lived in the Holy Word and in seasons of worship and prayer. What a glorious revelation His life was of knowing and sharing with God.

BLIND EVANGELIST LEADS CAMPAIGN MEETINGS

Two weeks' revival campaign have been of blessing and inspiration in Parry Sound, Ont. (Major and Mrs. A. Pedersen). The campaign was launched with meetings conducted by the Divisional Commander and Mrs. C. Warrander. It was evident that God was blessing the messages given, and a sister came forward to renew her consecration in the Saturday night praise meeting. Sunday night twenty seekers knelt at the Mercy-Seat.

Envoy W. Clarke, the blind evangelist, conducted eleven days' revival meetings, with gratifying results, eight senior and eleven junior seekers being registered. The comrades rallied in excellent support to the campaign; the band was in evidence every night, rendering valuable service. Envoy Clarke was a blessing to many, with his excellent Bible messages and his inspirational singing and music.

Good Friday the hall was packed for the illustrated service of music and song on the seven sayings of Christ on the Cross.

Easter Sunday morning, the comrades rallied to an early knee-drill and an Easter morning march in the largest open-air parade seen in this corps for years, and a triumphant note sounded from the band and comrades in the old Easter Hymn, "Christ the Lord is Risen today! Hallelujah!"

Seeking Deeper Experiences

The "I Believe" Crusade at Regina Citadel Corps, Sask., (Captain and Mrs. R. Marks) was brought to a conclusion by an intensive holiness campaign under the Spirit-filled leadership of Major and Mrs. D. Hammond (R). The campaign was preceded by a half-night of prayer, periods being led by Sr.-Major and Mrs. H. Chapman, Sr.-Major and Mrs. C. Kimmings, Major M. Taylor and Grace Haven Staff, the corps cadet class under Mrs. Sr. Major J. Sullivan, the band and songster brigade under the direction of Brother C. Simmons. The final period was conducted by the Corps Officer. The attendance at all meetings was gratifying.

Each afternoon cottage prayer meetings were led by the Major in various parts of the city. The night meetings were preceded by prayer-meetings in the band room, these being conducted by leaders of the different departments of the corps.

The campaign finalized with a "glory-crowned" Mercy-Seat. Several people sought the blessing of holiness, among them a number of recent converts.

CONVERTED RADIO ENTERTAINERS

Captain and Mrs. Bernard Lodge, of Aurora, Ill., U.S.A., were visitors for the Songster Week-end at North Toronto (Major and Mrs. W. Oakley) and by their testimonies, messages and musical contributions they brought untold blessing to all who heard them. The week-end began with a supper, attended by songsters and wives (or husbands), when the visitors were introduced and spoke and sang, and other items provided an interesting evening.

An exceptional attendance of bandmen and other comrades at the Sunday morning open-air stand launched a memorable day at the corps, the march making an impression on the people who witnessed it, and who heard the jubilant strains.

The indoor meetings were full of variety and interest, the informal type of song sung by the visitors proving a change and a blessing. The Captain told of his former experiences as a radio entertainer and of how he and Mrs. Lodge were attracted to the Army and experienced a radical change of heart.

SEEKERS KNEEL IN CONTRITION

Sackville, N.B. (Sr.-Captain B. Earle, Captain E. Zwicker). A series of meetings in connection with the "I Believe" Crusade" concluded with seekers at the Mercy-Seat. Major and Mrs. C. Godden, Public Relations Department, Saint John, N.B., conducted the week-end meetings. The Major's messages on the triumphant entrance of Jesus into Jerusalem were inspiring and enlightening.

"Come, let us visit Calvary" was the theme for the Good Friday meeting. Easter Sunday began with a good attendance at the sunrise meeting at 6.30 a.m. In the holiness meeting five children were dedicated and, at night, two senior soldiers were enrolled and a pageant was presented by the young people.

A BACKSLIDER TWENTY-FIVE YEARS

New Westminster, B.C. (Major and Mrs. I. Halsey and 2nd. Lieut. H. Lewis). The final week of special "I Believe" campaign meetings was profitable, various speakers bringing inspiring messages, and many testimonies being given.

Recently a "love feast" was held, and God's presence was evident. Major N. Buckley, Public Relations Dept., conducted the evening meeting, when two senior soldiers were enrolled. Two others were sworn in at the Newton Outpost.

Sunday evening the Corps Officer presented the local officers with their commissions. The corps cadets also received the certificates merited. The Major spoke on "Forgiveness of Sin"; three men accepted Christ at the close, one of them a backslider for twenty-five years. Each of these brothers witnessed to the work done in their hearts, and the comrades believe God will strengthen them to go on in their Christian life.

General Advance

Logan Avenue Corps, Winnipeg, Man. (Captain M. Hamilton). The Divisional Commander and Mrs. Lt.-Colonel R. Raymer conducted Sunday's meetings, and were the means of blessing and inspiration. Seekers knelt at the Penitent-form.

Meetings were conducted each night of the following week by visiting officers. Easter Sunday meetings were well attended and several souls surrendered in the salvation meeting. God has been blessing the work among the young people, and a general advance may be seen.

Mrs. Lodge testified to divine healing, as well. The Captain was able to warn the young people, from first-hand experience, that the dance halls are "traps of the devil." His Bible messages during the day were illustrated by accounts of happenings in his own life and in his search for God; they brought blessing and conviction to many. Two persons requested prayer.

The visitors called in at the company meeting and the fireside hour, and spoke to and sang for the young people, who fully appreciated the efforts made on their behalf.

During a recent meeting the members of the census board were re-commissioned, and the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horner was dedicated. On Founder's Sunday night Sr.-Major H. Wood spoke on aspects of the early days, and Major A. Brown led testimonies. Numbers of veteran comrades who had known the Founder spoke, including Sister Mrs. Dawson, who commenced the work in Newfoundland sixty-five years ago.

"AMBASSADORS" SESSION VISITS HAMILTON

Argyle, Hamilton, Ont. Corps (Major and Mrs. F. Tilley). Sunday morning commenced an eight-day campaign, conducted by a party of women cadets, with Captain D. Fisher and Sergeant S. Hill leading on. Major E. Burnell accompanied the cadets on the Sunday and led the meetings. Major F. Tilley dedicated the infant children of Brother and Sister C. Watson, Brother and Sister F. Thompson, and Brother and Sister W. Reid. Recruiting Sergeant C. Smith, grandparent of two of the infants held the flag. An inspiring holiness message was given by Cadet M. Ward.

In the salvation meeting Major Tilley enrolled nine senior soldiers; four of whom were transfers from the young people's corps. The personal witness by Sergeant Hill and a number of cadets brought blessing. The singing company (Leader Sister Vera Wiseman) sang. Of special interest was the dedication of a number of singing company members, who appeared in full Salvation Army uniform for the first time. These young people are taking their place as prospective songsters, and have already made helpful contribution in assisting the brigade. Credit is due Sister V. Wiseman for the years of faithful service rendered to train these young people, also for the valued assistance given by Songster Mrs. A. Smith. The message in music and in song contributed by the senior band and songster brigade brought blessing, as did Major Burnell's challenging message.

Monday night, Captain D. Fisher was in charge. The musical contributions by the cadets and young people's band (Leader R. Ramm) were enjoyed. Cadet M. Macfarlane delivered a helpful message. Major E. Burnell led the Tuesday night meeting, when a dramatized service was presented.

Wednesday night, the Training

College Principal and Mrs. Colonel R. Spooner were present, as were the Divisional Commander and Mrs. Brigadier E. Green. The messages in music and testimony by the cadets and officers were helpful, as was also the united music of the songsters, cadets and band. The Colonel delivered an earnest message.

Thursday was holiness night. A discussion on the "meaning of holiness," conducted in open forum style, provoked serious thought and, following the Bible message by Cadet N. Green, five seekers knelt at the Mercy-Seat.

Friday night was devoted to young people, and concluded with an interesting candle-light service. A tableau entitled "The Gates Ajar" was a feature on Saturday night, and carried with it an appeal to all. Following the meeting an open-air effort was held near a local hotel and beverage room.

In Sunday's holiness meeting the visiting cadets took active part, and Sergeant Hill spoke earnestly. In the afternoon, open-air meetings were held, and the company meeting and senior Bible class were privileged to hear from the visitors. Sunday night, following a Bible message by Captain Fisher, a number of seekers surrendered. A fireside hour followed when a number of requests were honored by the cadets, as well as the band and songster brigade.

Children's meetings were held each afternoon during the campaign, with large attendances and a number of children sought and found Christ.

During a three-hour Good Friday service at a large church in Peterborough, Ont., the Corps Officer, Major C. Everitt, spoke on one of the sayings of Christ on the Cross. Several of the songsters united with the choir in providing the music for the occasion.

NOVA SCOTIA DIVISION VICTORIES

New Waterford, N.S. Major and Mrs. R. Butler are rejoicing with their comrades over glorious victories being won, and old-fashioned conviction gripping hearts. "We finished up on Sunday," writes the Major, "with nine seekers. This makes fifteen in two weeks." This is good news and we rejoice.

New Aberdeen, N.S. Major and Mrs. J. Wilder report an excellent Easter season. The corps cadets presented on Good Friday "The Challenge of the Cross," and on Sunday evening "The Easter Story" was vividly portrayed. The Home League talent scheme is doing well, and last week turned in the sum of $46.

Glace Bay, N.S. The Divisional Commander and Mrs. Brigadier H. Newman conducted Easter meetings. Sr.-Captain and Mrs. W. Slous had arranged a busy day. The early morning march, the singing and commissioning of the newly-formed and uniformed singing company, and enrolments of junior and senior soldiers were the main features of the busy but profitable week-end. The crowds were excellent.

New Glasgow, N.S. The Divisional Young People's Secretary and Mrs. Major A. Moulton, with their family, led the Easter meetings at New Glasgow. In the early morning, the band was out and the strains of "Up from the Grave He Arose" filled the air. Visits were made to both company meetings, and the Sunday finished with one seeker. gan trio, "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" by Mrs. S. J. Richardson, A.R.C.T. Mrs. Routly and Mrs. Smith, were well in keeping with other items of a high standard.

Lt.-Colonel Maltby rose to the occasion with a soul-stirring anniversary Bible message in which he extolled the power of Christ to save to the uttermost and urged his listeners to emulate the Army Founder in his passionate desire to serve God and mankind.

Controller Saunders suitably thanked all who had taken part in the meeting, including the chairman, and said he had personally known twenty-nine of the Temple corps officers. "The Temple has maintained a remarkable witness for God in downtown Toronto for sixty-five years," he declared. "I hope it will continue to be so. Its work has entered into the very life and fabric of the people hereabouts."

A patriotic note was introduced by the rendering of "The Canadian" March (Colonel J. Merritt) and the National Anthem, "God Save the King."

On Saturday evening, during a crowded program given by the visiting and home musicians, Mrs. Commissioner Baugh was tendered birthday congratulations by Mrs. Major C. Watt, who also presented her with a lovely orchid.

Sunday morning, Lt.-Colonel Maltby gave an inspiring message, the home and visiting songsters, and band, rendering appropriate holiness selections. Mrs. Major C. Everitt read the Scripture and spoke, and Colonel G. Peacock, offered prayer.

Let us persevere in our singing of the simple truths in the simple old hearty way that God has already blessed so widely to the salvation of souls.

THE ARMY FOUNDER

The Healing Waters

Tune: "At Thy feet I fall," 395

WHEN shall I come unto the healing waters? Lifting my heart, I cry to Thee my prayer, Spirit of Peace, my Comforter and Healer, In whom my springs are found, let my soul Meet Thee there.

Chorus:

From a hill I know, Healing waters flow, O rise, Emmanuel's tide, And my soul overflow.

Wash from my hands the dust of earthly striving, Take from my mind the stress of secret fear, Cleanse Thou the wounds from all but Thee far hidden, And when the waters flow let my healing appear.

Light, life and love are in that healing Fountain, All I require to cleanse me and restore; Flow through my soul, redeem its desert places, And make a garden there for the Lord I adore.

GENERAL A. ORSBORN

A REVIVAL CHORUS

Tune: "Showers of Blessing" (Chorus)

Lord, make me a blessing Make me a blessing today; In every thought, word and deed, Lord Make me a blessing I pray.

The Dominion Census

Those who are affiliated with the Salvation Army and look upon the organization as their "spiritual home," or have no church affiliation, and wish to acknowledge the Army in this connection, should definitely state this when the Dominion Census is taken in June.

More will be said on the subject as this important event in Canada's history approaches.

Visitors were numerous during the week-end and included many former Temple associates from the United States and Canada, including Major Jabez Green, Elmira, N.Y., and his uncle, Major J. Green, a former Saint John Citadel corps officer. Major A. Green, Territorial Headquarters, is a cousin.

Anniversary Messages

Present at the meetings during the week-end were the Field Secretary and Mrs. Colonel G. Best, and other Territorial Headquarters' heads of departments; also such well-known officers as Colonel and Mrs. R. Hargrave and Colonel G. Attwell. An anniversary brochure contained messages from Commissioner and Mrs. C. Baugh and other leaders.
